Applicants' traverse of the restriction requirement has been considered, but is not convincing. Applicant's argument, that the catalyst of claim 15 is the same catalyst as recited in claim 1, is not germane, since claim 15 has not been restricted from claim 1. Accordingly the restriction requirement is made FINAL.

Applicants' traverse of the election of species requirement has been considered, but is not deemed persuasive. Applicants' argument, that the examiner has provided no reason for requiring the election of species, is not convincing. The election of species was required since none of the various species would be obvious over any of the others. Accordingly the election of species requirement is made FINAL.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 1754

Claims 1, 5, 7 and 9-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Korotkikh et al, for the reasons given in the last Office Action.

Claims 6 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Korotkikh et al, for the reasons given in the last Office Action.

Applicants' argument, that the Fe and Mn in the catalyst of Kortkikh et al are not anti-methanation agents as claimed, but are either catalytic agents or promoters, is not convincing, since the Fe and Mn in the catalysts of Korotkikh et al would have an anti-methanation effect to no less extent than they would in the catalysts recited in applicants' claims.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The recitation of "selected from..." is improper Markush terminology. Applicants' argument, that alternative expressions using "or" are acceptable, is not convincing, since such expressions are not acceptable when used in conjunction with the language "selected from...". Applicants' argument, that there is no uncertainty or ambiguity with respect to the scope or clarity of the claims, is not convincing, since there is uncertainty and ambiguity as to whether the groups are limited to only the specifically recited members.

The Declaration filed under 37 CFR 1.131 on January 30, 2006 has been considered, and is considered sufficient to overcome the rejections over Hagemeyer et al '327 and Hagemeyer et al '986.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
